

Nurturing Nature: Engaging and Taking Responsibility

Science and sustainability will be the driving force behind our units in our theme of 'Nurturing Nature'. Children will learn about the delicate balance of nature and the world around us and the impact of humans and their decisions on this balance. Children will investigate topics that impact climate change, biodiversity and habitats and become problem solvers of the future: developing solutions that protect the world and its sustainability. Fieldwork will play an important role in allowing children to investigate locations, spot patterns and developing their understanding of sustainability.

Pre School—Caring for the Animals

Throughout this focus children will be exploring and developing their understanding of how they can care for animals and look after nature.

They will begin to develop an understanding of how they can show care and concern for all living things and the environment.

Through Understanding the World children will begin to think and talk about what they have seen in the natural world and through this how they can look after the environment which will in turn look after animals.
